

ABSTRACT

A photonic bandgap microcavity is provided. The microcavity includes a membrane structure that can experience strain. A photonic bandgap waveguide element is formed on the membrane structure having a defect so that when the membrane 5 structure is strained, the photonic bandgap waveguide element is tuned to a selective amount.